

SEVERAL FARES OF MACKEREL

NETTERS BACK TO FIT FOR SWORDFISHING, BRING TRIPS.

Several of the mackerel fleet fishing off Block Island, arrived during the night, bringing small catches of net mackerel for local dealers. The fleet will now fit for swordfishing.

Fresh fish receipts were landed by the off-shore dragger Grace and Evelyn, and the small Provincetown dory fleet. Two of the local halibutlers brought small fares of salt fish from Boston. Gill net receipts yesterday amounted to only 25,000 pounds.

NETTERS TAKING MACKEREL ON THE CAPE SHORE

Mackerel struck in on the Cape Shore on Wednesday, according to information received today from the Times correspondent at Liverpool, N. S. Small quantities of fish weighing one and a half pounds are being taken in the nets. Traps to the westward of Liverpool are making some good hauls.

Liverpool boats are bringing in good trips of haddock and cod.

TRAWLER TOWS IN LAME DUCK

Disabled when her otter trawl net fouled her propeller as it was being dragged aboard, the power schooner Juneal was towed to the Boston Fish pier yesterday.

The Juneal was fishing on the Georges bank Wednesday night, 80 miles southeast from Highland light when the net became entangled. All efforts to dislodge the net were unavailing and early Thursday the Dartmouth steam trawler, inward bound, put a line aboard the disabled craft.

So badly entangled was the net that the Juneal was sent to the Atlantic works and hauled out on the marine railway, East Boston.

On the Railways.

Schs. Vasco da Gama and Doris F. Amoro are on Parkhurst's railways.

Sch. Olivia Brown is on Burnham's railways.

Buoy Change.
